Saved files have the smallest possible size, their entire content is editable onscreen and the exact composition length is shown and controllable by the program. Yet, preexistent files can be cleaned and filtered, removing garbage and embedded malformations made by other tools. The program presents a minimalist interface, from its installation, which just requires the extraction of the ZIP/RAR file without any modification to the system, to its commands, all shown onscreen, without menus or indirect paths Nigel Farage, the Brexit Party leader, has said he expects to do well in the European parliamentary elections, despite what he said was a “secret” deal between him and the Conservatives. “I think we are going to win them,” Mr Farage told journalists outside the Houses of Parliament. “If I did say that, they would probably laugh at me, but I think that's what's going to happen.”

When asked by another reporter if he was confident he would do well, he replied: “As I always say, there's no real predicting things. We never do. “The only thing that's for sure is that we will make an extraordinary impact on this country because of the referendum.” He told BBC Radio 4's Today programme that the Tories had agreed to let him and other figures speak at the Conservative Party's events, and to distribute the party's literature.

Asked if he had any specific terms of the deal, he replied: “No, I’m not going to go into that. It’s done, it’s signed. We have now got a huge stride towards, I hope, a new future.” The Brexit Party leader called for a two-year transition period between the UK leaving the EU and new EU laws being implemented, which would mean a period during which Britain would continue to have free trade with the bloc. He added: “My guess is that we will have a transition period of two years and for many months people will say I wish we could go on living like this. “Then they will have their moment of truth and they will say ‘never mind, it’s time to go forward.’” As part of the agreement, Mr Farage said he did not want “any opposition” to his new Brexit Party to have a role in the negotiations. “I want them out of the process. It’s my job to lead this. I’m not an opposition leader. I’m the new Brexit leader.

---
